Here's another dime for you, Mr. Songman Sing the loneliness of broken dreams away, if you can Yes it's only me and you, Mr. Songman Take away the night sing away my hurt, Mr. Songman

In your ivory covered house, safe behind your walls of glass You keep staring back at me like a memory from the past Won't you sing me away to a summer night Let me hold you in my arms again I know memory's not re-living But at least it's not the end

Here's another dime for you Mr. Songman
Sing the loneliness of broken dreams away, if you can
Yes it's only me and you, Mr. Songman
Won't you take away the night, sing away my hurt, Mr. Songman

Won't you sing me away to a summer night Let me hold her in my arms again Take away the night sing away my hurt, Mr. Songman
