Your Time Hasn't Come Yet, Baby

Elvis Presley

Your time hasn't come yet baby You got a lot of dreams to go Your time hasn't come yet baby But when it does your heart will know

You're gonna be a beautiful woman Because you're such a beautiful child And when you start to bloom Just like a rose in June I bet the schoolboys all go wild, but right now

Your time hasn't come yet baby You got a few dreams to go Your time hasn't come yet baby When it does your heart will know

Your life's still a lollipop heaven Your teddy bear's at the foot of your bed The little boy next door who only makes you sore Is gonna some day turn your head but right now

Your time hasn't come yet baby You got a few dreams to go Your time hasn't come yet baby When it does your heart will know

You're gonna grow overnight into a lady With a devastating smile And then a lucky guy will see you And wanna walk you down the aisle, but meanwhile

Your time hasn't come yet baby You got a few dreams to go Your time hasn't come yet baby When it does your heart will know When it does your heart will know When it does your heart will know