Too Many Times

How many times people How many times people Too many times Now that your god forsakes it How are you gonna make it into the light I know you wanna shake me But as you try to break me You bring me to life If you'd a spine you'd face it All of the might you've wasted Too many times

Now the damage is done I will darken your door No the truth it don't glitter and shine With you on my back I will have the last laugh Make you wish that you'd never told lies Wherever you are wherever you stay I will be there lying waiting all day all day

How many straws break it How many wrongs make it Make it a right Only the wise like you Could let the blind lead you Too many times

Now the damage is done I will darken your door No the truth it don't glitter and shine With you on my back I will have the last laugh Make you wish that you'd never told lies Wherever you are Whatever you say I will be there lying waiting all day all day
