

Honest

Emeli Sandé

We may live again, but hey now, maybe not
So if you love someone, give it all you've got
Time is easy spent, but it can't be bought
So stop acting as if tomorrow's promised
Stop acting as if you can't be honest, honest
Honest with yourself

Never let the tide of change
Wash away the dream you've dreamt
Don't get left wondering where the summer went
'Cause if not now, then come on darling, tell me when
Stop acting as if tomorrow's promised
Stop acting as if you can't be honest, honest
Honest with yourself

Stop acting as if tomorrow's promised
Stop acting as if you can't be honest, honest
Honest with yourself

Breathe in, breathe out, don't hold it in
Let fear fall down, let love begin
Be brave, be bold with no regrets
Try something that scares you a bit
Write your own song and sing it loud
Love who you are, stand tall, stand proud
Keep the good and lose the rest
If you know your truth, say it with your chest
Don't care so much what people think
Most wouldn't care if you float or sink
Just know the ones who love you most Treat them right and keep them close

And savor every breath
And cherish every day
'Cause the sun's here now
But the moon is on the way
Don't get too caught up
Dwelling in your yesterday

Stop acting as if tomorrow's promised
Stop acting as if you can't be honest
