Summerbreeze

Emilíana Torrini

It might have been a while Since you've been loved Like you should be loved

It might have been a while Since you've been kissed Like you should be kissed

In tender loving arms
Might be something you miss

Well summerbreeze is blowing through your window And summerbreeze is blowing through your hair And something in your eyes that you cannot disguise Don't tell me it ain't there

It might have been a while Since you've been loved By one who really loves you

It might have been a while Since you could trust That someone really cares

When people like us Meant to go 'round in pairs

Summerbreeze is blowing through your window And summerbreeze is blowing through your hair Something in your eyes that took me by surprise Don't tell me that it ain't there