

Never Making Plans Again

Emma Louise

Well we all had a fair idea
Of where we thought we'd be by here
Drawing our plans in the schoolyard dirt

And I can say that I've been in love
I can say that I did that well
And in the darkness I only did my best
But still I'm never making plans again

Oh and gone are my old ideas
That I've held onto for years
I'm gonna let live and let it be
Oh let it in

Oh and so speaks this emptiness
That echoes every time I step
But you know love seeks this hollowness
Oh, but still I'm never making plans again

And I may have taken time for granted
But I know no second went to waste
And no I'm not where I planned it
But I know I won't regret any step of the way
No, I know I won't regret any step of the way
No, I know that I won't regret any step of the way
But still I'm never making plans again
