

Fight or Flight

Engineers

You've no rights
Standing by yourself
And you feel there's no way
To climb this steepest peak on your own
Warning sign gave truth somehow

Will you cry?
Will you tell yourself
That you'll sure there's no one
To walk the tightest rope they can throw
Soon they'll gone and roll it back

Things change sometimes overnight
And you can't just walk away
First choice between fight or flight
Look up at exploding sun

You could try
To believe you're right
And you know there's no one
To talk it off as much as you do
Painted smiles won't help you now

Will you lie
And then tell yourself
That you're feeling alright
And tell the tallest tales to the world?
Evening height won't help you now

Things change sometimes overnight
And you can't just walk away
First choice between fight or flight
Look up at exploding sun

Let's walk on this moonlit night
Look up at exploding sun
Lay down under the big sky
There are some plans beneath to revise