Something is wrong I think something is missing I can't tell what side I am on If everything is for my fortune If everything I exploit Then I've lost my name Nothing I say Can get it back for me All that I trade All that I gain Can't buy integrity Make no mistake It's hard to avoid It's easy to go ahead and join If I've lost my name Nothing I say Can get it back for me Make no mistake All that I've gained Can't buy integrity And what to I want And what do I need No reason for what I've become No escape from what I've become