The New York City folks
Say I'm too country
The Grinny Village hippies
Call me square
But at the Long Horn barroom
Down in Dallas Texas
They call me
The Texas Troubadour there
My home state of Texas
You've been good to me
Your wide open spaces treat me fair
The girls are so much prettier
Down in Texas
They don't breathe
That New York City polluted air

The New York City sidewalks Filled with people Too busy to say hello to you there With hearts as cold As the concrete that they walk on They sure could use Some clean fresh Texas air Now Texas folks don't judge you Till they know you And they don't judge you then By what you wear And you can feel at home Anyplace in Texas If you don't own a thing Or if you're a millionaire Now my home state of Texas
