

Alaska

Escape With Romeo

I've destroyed your picture on my wall
I want to jump but I can only fall
All my statements couldn't melt the ice It's too cold in your paradise

In the heart of alaska

All my hope for you was build on sand because you act for someone elses command I could jump into your babyface that could never light my lonely days

In the heart of alaska

Collapsing worlds inside my brain say you're happy and I go insane the only way that I have found transform my tears into walls of sound

In the heart of alaska
I'm freezing
in the heart of alaska
