

Beauty In Everything

Esmée Denters

It's so easy to forget the world we live in
Lost in the thoughts inside your head
Busy planning for the future
When you know that you should be here instead

When was the last time we played outside?
Chasing those butterflies
Looking up at the clouds
Imagination just running wild

Can you believe that there's
Snow on the mountain peaks
Rivers that flow to the sea
Water just turns into rain
There is beauty in everything

Tryna keep up with what's expected
When you're sitting in the city smoke, it's hard to breathe
I'm looking at it from a distance
Nothing ever is as bad as it seems

When was the last time we played outside?
Chasing those butterflies
Looking up at the clouds
Imagination just running wild

Can you believe that there's
Snow on the mountain peaks
Rivers that flow to the sea
Water just turns into rain
There is beauty in everything
The sun goes down every night
The stars, they light up the whole sky
Creatures that fly with their wings
There is beauty in everything

Flowers that grow, bloom in the spring
The brightest colors you've ever seen
Gravity keeps on pulling us in
Can you believe it? It's not a dream

When do we wake up and open our eyes?
Before we run out of time
Can you believe all that we share
It's your and mine

Can you believe that there's
Snow on the mountain peaks
Rivers that flow to the sea
Water just turns into rain
There is beauty in everything
The sun goes down every night
The stars, they light up the whole sky
Creatures that fly with their wings
There is beauty in everything
