

Who We Are

Estelle

If there's ever been anyone in my life that says, "What is you wanna do? Nah, I think you can do it," it's my mom, you know? And- that's probably one of the things that keeps me from going crazy is knowing that she is in my corner

Mm-hmm, and that no matter what, she will be

You figure out the more educated you- more educated you are, you- it opens up so many more doors, just for yourself. So you have to wanna help yourself

Like, I would have no idea how far I could be pushed and how much I could bare, had I not been in that situation that I've been in

It would be a more interesting place if in friendships and if relationships, um, we were more compassionate and more empathetic to helping each other out as oppose to just letting each other go

I'm picking up books and I- um, I'm reading them, educating myself
