

Dreams

Eterna

You're looking for a solution Inside men's insanity But the answer's empty It makes no sense So much power It tells you what to do So many voices Between dreams and reality

I know You're searching within yourself You're doing the best you can I say - believe in your dreams 'Cause I dream with you

And the power of dreams Is moving the world around you And how many signs Do you need to believe? And the power of dreams Is changing the deep inside of you And how many signs Do you need to believe?

You're looking for the remains Of the things that you believed Scattered fragments Of the story of your life Take your memories From the deep of your soul I'm the only way Believe in me

I can call the existence Of the things that don't exist I say - believe in your dreams 'Cause I dream with you
