

Just another day

F.O.B.

The trees bend down to look me in my face
They rise again and leave no trace
But inside me there will always be a scar
To remind me of that dying star

The water kills the dying embers
And turns the heat to dust
And all the things that I remember
Are the only things that I can trust

JUST ANOTHER DAY