

Never Be the Same

Firefall

I give a sigh and close my eyes
When your memory visits me
It's hard to try not to cry
When I think of you my heart breaks in two

And still I feel you here with me
With every passing day
But life for me will never be the same

I force a smile when all the while
I'm missing you, what can I do
But carry on? 'Cause life goes on Anyway, that's what they say

And still I feel you here with me
With every passing day
But life for me will never be the same
My mind keeps precious memories
Treasures I can see
Of a time I'll know again will never be the

And still I feel you holding me
The way you used to do
As long as there's a broken dream
My heart will long for you
But life for me will never be
Life for me will never be
Life for me will never be the same