

Hollow King (Sound Of The End)

Fit for a King

You've got blood on your hands
You've turned away and the guilt is flowing through your veins
Now they're left for dead and you can't replace the hole that you've made
Burned by deceit
Your hollow king will meet his end
Meet your end
Your king will meet his end

I will not wait for the flame to consume me
I won't let hate flow through these bones
I never thought that I would end up like this Where I'd be meeting you in the end
Standing face to face and eye to eye
With the one who took everything

Silence has taken over me
My words are lost and I'm giving in

Faithless
This is the price that you pay
You're the king of your own destruction
Now you're caught in my web
Your God can't hear your cries
Like he ever did
You ventured out to save the one you love
You should have known
This is the price that you pay

I never thought that I would end up like this
Where I'd be trapped inside this maze
Standing face to face and eye to eye
With the man who abandoned everything

Silence has taken over me
My words are lost and I'm giving in
Silence has taken over me
My words are lost and I'm giving in

This is the sound of the end
This is the sound of the end