

Redemption (The Aftermath)

Flesh Field

They're protected by their titles
And safe behind their names
Look to the flames reaching out for you
Insanity's coming back for you

And I'm lost in the shadow's lack of peace
The unrelentless, unbound streets of mind
Forever shine
And I'm strangled by the flowers forever dying
Wrapped in lust, embraced by fear
I'm afraid to see
And I'm afraid to hear
The unchained beauty of what's inside
It's a silent scream that you can never hide
It appears as a shadow pacing back and forth

The pain starts to envelope you
Fading into grey

And I'm dead within the walls of your mind
Insanity's never left behind

An atrocity committed by saints
A miracle enacted by terrorists
They sit in their circle of deceit
Forcing the children into slavery
Relishing their power
Laughing at the decay

And I'm lost in the shadow's lack of peace
The unrelentless, unbound streets of mind
And I'm strangled by the flowers forever dying
Wrapped in lust, embraced by fear
I'm afraid to see
And I'm afraid to hear
The unchained beauty of what's inside
It's a silent scream that you can never hide