Rival gangsters sit down to plan an after school program

A religious fanatic posts footage of an interfaith service project

A group of teenage boys watches a video of a father playing catch with his s on

An adult film star paints thumbnail portraits of elderly couples fully cloth ed an smiling

A record executive records a demo of his apology

A policeman makes reverse 911 calls instructing residents to take to the streets

A patriarch reports for duty

She's wearing an orange jumpsuit and holding a picket sign

She's ashamed of her birthplace, but retreat is not an option

Women and children

Front line

Log on

Tune in

Stand and be counted, wounded, stationed

In the belly of the vulture watch your back

Theres no civilians

Women, children

Front line listen

Consider this a distant early warning

The fires imminent

Pollution gathering dust particles

Funneling through smokestacks, airways, bandwidth

This information tube fed

Check the labels

Delete the virus

Alert the masses

Butterfly wing cross wings, send black hawks toward hurricane survivors

Roses sprout from empty lots and sidewalk cracks

Pacifist gorillas move undetected, through concrete jungles

New forms are beginning to take shape

Once occupied minds are activating.

People are waking up!

The insurgency is alive and well

Rise of the flobots

Portrait of

The new American insurgent

Rattle and shake the foundations of the world order

Assembly line incent, resist, refuse

Inform, create

Direct loved one's to the trenches

Suit up forge rubble into fortress's

Plaster, cloth, aluminum

Broken porcelain

Rusted platinum

Burn blood stains from decompressed diamonds

Hammer the battle cry into braille studded armor

We are building up a new world

Do not sit idly by

Do not remain neutral

Do not rely on this broadcast, alone

We are only as strong as our signal
There is a war going on for your mind
If you are thinking, you are winning
Resistance is victory
Defeat is impossible
Your weapons are already in hand
Reach within you and find the means by which to gain your freedom
Fight with tools
Your fate, and that of everyone you know
Depends on it