Are You What You Want to Be?

Foster the People

- 1. I woke up on Champs-Élysées to the Djembe of Ghana A fine lady from Belize said "You got the spirit of a Fela" A young one dripping make-up put her hands out to holla And I gave her what I got but couldn't handle her broken hea rt The right words in the hands of dissidents with the fire Will rip apart the marrow from the bone of the liars Well I'm afraid of saying too much and ending a martyr But even more so I'm afraid to face god and say I was a cowa rd, yeah
- R: Will all these things I wait for revelation These things make me want to duck for cover With all these things I wait for revolution These things ask the biggest question to me And it's are you what you want to be So are you what you want to be?

2. The war machines will put out both its hands for a dollar It's drinking at the table with the chrome hand guerrillas The young ones dripping make-up lift her leg up to holla Well, I told her what she's got should be protected in the a rms of love The right things in the hands of dissidents with the fire Will rip apart the marrow from the bone of the liars Well I'm afraid of saying too much and ending a martyr But even more so I'm afraid to face god and say I was a cowa

rd

R: Will all these things...

Are you what you want to be So are you what you want to be? [3x]
