Sometimes You Just Can't Win

George Jones

Just when the sunshines the brightest And the world looks alright, again Then the clouds fill the sky's You can't believe your eyes Sometimes you just can't win.

My love never meant much to you dear Or yo you I was always a friend Oh, why did I call, You have no heart at all Sometimes you just can't win.

I can't live like this any longer Not knowing just where I stand I know I should't care But sweetheart it don't seem fair Sometimes you just can't win

And then when the sunshines the brightest And the world looks alright, again The clouds fill the sky's You can't believe your eyes Sometimes you just can't win...