

Sometime

Geri Halliwell

Treat me right, keep me safe
Show me love, I'll embrace
If you take me home, where I was born
I'd find peace of mind, somehow
Look for light for your conception
Lay me down for your inspection
Somehow we'll find a way
Sometime but not today
There's somethin' I need to say
Somehow we'll find a way
I wish this was yesterday
Then maybe tomorrow I'll remeber, sometime
Give me hope, in life I pray
But it's good when I'm bad
I'm sorry to say
So when I feel you inside, deep within me
I'd find peace of mind, somehow.
I'm a living breathing contradiction
Can't go through this crucifixion
Sacrifice love for affection
There's pain in pleasure's resurrection
After the rain, then comes the sun
We will be one again
An aphrodisiac rejection, immaculate
