

Deadline

Girlschool

Feeling so low, so down tonight, we're living like two machines
Knowing that we lost the fight to our darkest dreams
Empty streets, unpainted walls, echoes say good-bye
Could've found another way but they didn't even try

I heard you screaming, "One more day"

Deadline deadline, said it was a deadline

There's safety in numbers, but we're numbering the days

Holding out, killing time, nothing left to say
Something outside is not given time to fade

Deadline deadline, said it was a deadline

Gazing out the windows, let me out in the night air
When the echoes said good-bye I couldn't even care
Something outside is not given time to fade

Deadline deadline, said it was a deadline

Deadline