

Can You Fool

Glen Campbell

You can take all of the money that you made, and
Put it in a jar
Dragged outta my that'll show you
Is heaven very far, you can

Take all of them letters and that you need, till you
Find out who you are
And maybe you can figure
Why that woman wanna be so cruel, but you
Just can't forget her
Can you fool

Oh, the winter nights and city lights, and a
Cryin' of the train
Every day the hate of rain
Every memory's a pain, and you

Finally used the sense God gave you
To come out of the rain
And still you can't figure
Why that woman wanna be so cruel, but you
Just can't forget her
Can you fool

Well, love is long and love is hard
And love brings lots of pain
For she was here and now she's gone
Please bring her back again

Now you can take all of the money that you made, and
Put it in a jar
Dragged outta my that'll show you
Is heaven very far, you can

Take all of that medicine you need, till you
Find out who you are
And maybe you can figure
Why that woman wanna be so cruel, but you
Just can't forget her
Can you fool
