

Lovelight

Glen Campbell

There were two people who loved each other
They thought they had it all together
Then something happened to all their good times
Somehow their laughter turned into cry time

Cause a lovelight has to shine bright
And send a strong beam into the cold night
And touch your soul right down where it's lonely
It gets more lonely by the truest lovelight

There were two people who lived together
Now they thought their love could stand any weather
Then their first storm clouds washed away their love 'bouts
And left them standing like total strangers

Cause a lovelight has to shine bright
And send a strong beam into the cold night
And touch your soul right down where it's lonely
It gets more lonely by the truest lovelight

Cause a lovelight has to shine bright
And send a strong beam into the cold night
And touch your soul right down where it's lonely
It gets more lonely by the truest lovelight

Woah the lovelight, lovelights gotta shine bright
And send a strong beam into the cold night...
