

I should have believed you, why would you lie?
You were always staring into the sky
Describing what it will feel like when one of us dies
Screaming, "This is the end, we have no more time"
We have no more time

I could have believed you, but I never tried
I kept mine closed while you bled from your eyes
Not wanting to see the things we keep inside
Screaming, "This is the end, we have no more time"
There is no more time

I'm not like you, I want to pretend
That what we have here will never end
That we are perfect, we are divine
Turn on the lights and we'll be fine

Well, believing this shit doesn't make it real
Hit me all you want, 'cause I can't feel anything, anymore
Is this the new trend? You opened my eyes to welcome
The end of it all (of it all, of it all)

And now I understand that we cannot hide
One bright flash of life and we burn from the inside
Our love was a doomsday warning sign
And screaming, "This is the end, there is no more time"
We have no more time
There is no more time

I'm not like you, I want to pretend
That what we have here will never end
That we are perfect, we are divine
Turn on the lights and we'll be fine

Well, believing this shit doesn't make it real
Hit me all you want, 'cause I can't feel anything, anymore
Is this the new trend? You opened my eyes to welcome
The end of it all (of it all, of it all)

I'm not like you
I'm not like you, I want to pretend
That what we have here will never end
I'm not like you