

Black Horizon

Gov't Mule

Red sun sinking down in the valley
Even sinking down myself
I'm tired, I can feel me turning
Into someone else, into someone else

New day dawning on the black horizon
New life waiting on the other side
No more running and hiding
Getting ready to end this long, hard ride

Last night, felt the whole world crumbling
Even crumbling in myself
Dark dreams woke me up this morning
Worst I ever felt, worst I ever felt

New day dawning on the black horizon
New life waiting on the other side
No more running and hiding
Getting ready to end this long, hard ride

World is turning to a hall of mirrors
Just you and me, what I don't wanna see
Everywhere I look, I see the stranger
Am I chasing him or is he chasing me?

New day dawning on the black horizon
New life waiting on the other side
No more running and hiding
Getting ready to end this long, hard ride

Looking over the mountain
East in the valley
New day dawning
New day dawning
I'm ready
Ready for the brand new day