

See You Through

Graham Colton

When you're only countin' time
Till the continents collide
But out your window
You're goin' somewhere new
I'll see you through

And the hand of fate that I drew
Had me down and out, but I've come to
And, yeah, I poured out my soul
On what I can't undo
But I'll see it through

I know the skies will open for you
And the stars, they all turn blue
Let the mornin' sun
Come to your rescue
I'll see you through
And out your window
You're goin' somewhere new
I'll see you through

And when the lies stick close to the truth
And the night is closin' on you
And when you're feelin' small
Or you're bulletproof
I'll see you through
And out your window
You're goin' somewhere new
I'll see you through

And I'll see you through
