

Father Of Your Billies

Greg Laswell

You must've been fading away
You must've been wilting away
You must've been safe from killing
The father of your Billies

With the Devil on your heels
Everything's all right, all right

No one that gets him
And no one that sees him
No one that gets him
And no one ever sees him

You must've been fading away
Look at you, a bright fairy queen
And there you go, kicking and screaming
The father of your Billies

With the Devil on your heels
Everything's all right, all right

No one that gets him
And no one that sees him
No one that gets him
And no one will ever get him

I hope you find a way