

Ghost

Gregory and the Hawk

I woke up with my head on a bee's nest
And my feet on your jacket
It was a wild it was a wrong it was a long long night
And your lips like little stings
Set me to wondering
If there's anyway and anytime
I could have, I would have tried

You had me back but then you an
Like you never ever knew me
Fall into my arms again
Like you always wanted to
You always wanted to
But you never ever knew

I woke up with my mind on a reason
For why it's right to be leavin' you
Until we're drawn into the swarm
Of a warm white tide
