

Boots

Hardy

I woke up in my boots this morning
Fell asleep in my boots last night, had a
Feeling that I'd run out of warnings
Girl, I couldn't have been more right

My only suitcase
It's by the front door
That look on your face says you
Don't want me no more
There's no use in talking
This time you mean it
You're sending me walking
Well, what a convenience
Cause

I woke up in my boots this morning
Fell asleep in my boots last night
Had a feeling that I'd run out of warnings
Girl, I couldn't have been more right

Yeah, I knew I wouldn't have to take the time putting em back on when
I'm sober
Yeah, I knew you'd be pissed off over me and I'd just be hungover
Girl, I knew I'd open my eyes in a house fit for a dog
Knew I'd need em come the daylight, so I didn't even take em off naw

I woke up in my boots this morning

Yeah, we were past the point of fighting
There'd be a curb you'd kick me to
I made it easy on me girl, but I made it easier on you
Can't hide the truth yeah, we both knew that it was coming
So, I woke up in my boots this morning!

I woke up in my boots this morning!

I woke up in my boots this morning
Cause I went out and got drunk last night, had a
Feeling that I'd run out of warnings, so I
Said what the hell and kissed us goodbye

Yeah, I knew I wouldn't have to take the time putting em back on when
I'm sober
Yeah, I knew you'd be pissed off over me and I'd just be hungover
Girl, I knew I'd open my eyes in a house fit for a dog
Knew I'd need em come the daylight, so I didn't even take em off naw
No, I didn't even take em off, yeah

I woke up in my boots this morning, yeah!
I woke up in my boots this morning!
