

Living Dead

Have Mercy

Found out when my ears set flame
Little nothings to a worn out brain
You thought I was someone you knew
Looking down to me from your balcony view

I didn't think we would still be there
All nighters and our minds to share
I know it more than I ever thought I would
And if I stay then will you stay?
I know you should

We're done for good and we're good as dead
Where you sleep is where I plan to make my bed
I've got a song that belongs on your right arm
I need to know what you feel
And if you mean no harm

Talks and sleep in each others arms
No big plans, just false alarms
When I got there it looked better than it could
And I'll stay if you stay
I know you should

We're done for good and we're good as dead
Where you sleep is where I plan to make my bed
I've got a song that belongs on your right arm
I need to know what you feel
And if you mean no harm

Say you won't but I know you will
Wasted nights for me always end in a cheap thrill
I've waited twenty-two years to find something real
So tell me where to go
You shouldn't leave alone
You are young and bold
With a heart of gold

So rest in peace for the living dead
And where you sleep is where I plan to make my bed
I've got a song that belongs on your right arm
I need to know what you feel
And if you mean no harm

So rest in peace for the living dead
And where you sleep is where I plan to make my bed
I've got a song that belongs on your right arm
I need to know what you feel
And if you mean no harm
