

Song for Sarah Jane

Hawksley Workman

I believe it is a shame.
I believe it is a shame.

Stop the wind before it hit me
The stone died in the sea
You used to catch me lightly
Falling like a leaf.

So why can't things just stay the same?
So why can't things just stay the same?

Oh the face of love keeps changing
When you think you've got it tamed.
Your eyes will open one day
And it's something gone again.

I believe it is a shame.
Yeah, I believe it is a shame.

That you can say that it is forever
And never come again.
But life will keep you bleeding
And standing in the rain.

And I believe something remains.
Yes, I believe something remains.

Cuz when lovers ache together
Over many passing years.
Something deep in knowing
Is following all the tears.

I believe it is a shame.
Yeah, I believe it is a shame.
This is a song for Sarah Jane.