

Dying to Live Again

Hedley

Tired of always saying sorry
It's just another fighting story
And I can barely walk a straight line
I'm tired of learning life the hard way
I wish that being strong was easy
But I want it more this time

I was wrong. It's hard to say
At least I learned from my own mistakes
I would change everything

Cause I can't wait for the day
When finally I can say and you'll believe it
I can change and now I mean it
And I will fight for a way
To make up for the mess that I've been leaving
A second change is all that I'm needing and
Anything. I can do. Just to make it up to you
I would do anything
I'm dying to live again

I was such a fool to hurt you
Cause you're the one I always turn to
When I'm going out of my mind
I just bite the hand that feeds me
Instead of loving ones that need me
But I want it more this time
I was wrong. It's hard to say
At least I learn from my mistakes
I would change everything

Cause I can't wait for the day
When finally I can say and you'll believe it
I can change and now I mean it
And I will fight for a way
To make up for the mess that I've been leaving
A second change is all that I'm needing and
Anything. I can do. Just to make it up to you
I would do anything
I'm dying to live again

I pray that you'll see what I've become
I would give it all away to right all the wrongs I have done
I don't wanna fall for the same mistakes again
What's it going to take for this misery to end?

Anything I can do. Just to make it up to you
I would change everything
Cause I can't wait for the day
When finally I can say and you'll believe it
I can change and now I mean it
And I will fight for a way
To make up for the mess that I've been leaving
A second change is all that I'm needing and
Anything. I can do. Just to make it up to you
I would do anything
I'm dying to live again