

Internal Enemy

Hexx

Do you remember long ago when you were but a child?
You were taught what to believe you were so beguiled
Programmed only to obey and never to question
Authorities in command of your own oppression

All those years that came and went you never had a clue
Reciting verse and scripture while doubt within you grew
Now you are so confused your mind is in a daze
The crutch that you've been leaning on has kept you in a maze

Look into the mirror, you will find me there
Lurking deep within you, hiding behind a prayer

Look into the mirror, you will find me there
Lurking deep within you, hiding behind a prayer

The Internal Enemy you've hosted all this time
Is nothing but a fantasy that festered in your mind
Once you lay you're burden down you be set free
Free from you're Internal Enemy

Look into the mirror, you will find me there
Lurking deep within you, hiding behind a prayer
