Spun a Web

Love thy hater You know they say everything we hear is an opinion not fact And everything we see is perspective not truth The fewer the facts the stronger the opinions And opinion is the medium between knowledge and ignorance, bitch

I'm hoping in heaven got a ghetto So when I get there I can tell you to smile whole hearted I'm back where I started I'm prisoner of my own success But hardly caring enough to know that I'm dead without it No cribs, no cars, no champagne No bright lights, no bitches, no big stage But fuck it I'm in a better place And I'm talking in third person in case you couldn't relate Diary of a monster Sometimes my mind fades to a place not even I can explain Cause there's a thin line between genius and insane Guess which one I am, I think it's obvious that

They spun a web for me They spun a web for me They spun a web for me

Yeah, And I say that to say this Man if life is a bitch I'm gon fuck her then tell her that I love her Not beneath her or above her but inside no rubber That's my interpretation of mutherfucker No lie, no truth my life is a little bit of both Who's who, who knows anymore My choice is to get it in real moist so I can come hard And the world is ours, better yet bitch mines Shot at the moon just to be among stars Then God alienated it and ended up on mars Serenity understand it extraterrestrial that I is Think I do it all because it's obvious

They spun a web for me They spun a web for me They spun a web for me

Yeah, uh huh Let me, I'm seeing my whole life ahead of me And I'm feeling like this life can never be (naaah) Cause a nigga on a whole nother pedigree I'm so far from home it feels like a million miles And I'm long gone and ain't no coming back But really I never left I've been silent yet at my the best Ya'll haters spread hatred like [?] And I still find ways to make crochet hearts Like Kanye my 808's is heartbreakers Maybe me singing to your heats a mistake Nah, Maybe I'm just before my time Or maybe it's just that obvious

Ja Rule

They spun a web for me They spun a web for me