

Distraction

Jake Miller

It's been six months since we talked at all
You asked me not to so I didn't call
Yet it's nice to run into you
Even though it might be too soon
'Cause it seems like you've been moving on

And I know you
Know that I got someone new
So I'll try not to say your name
And I know you
Know that I got someone new
But to tell the truth it's not the same

She's just a distraction, I confess
She'll never take up the space that you left
Just a distraction, I confess
Someone to hold who can help me forget

I don't wanna go off and say too much
But it's hard not to think bout the way it was
Yet it's nice to run into you
Even though it might be too soon
'Cause she's alright but it isn't love

And I know you
Know that I got someone new
So I'll try not to say your name
And I know you
Know that I got someone new
But to tell the truth it's not the same

She's just a distraction, I confess
She'll never take up the space that you left
Just a distraction, I confess
Someone to hold who can help me forget, yeah

She may have my attention
But we got no connection
Just need to take my mind
Off you, yeah

She may have my attention
But we got no connection
Just need to take my mind
Off you

She's just a distraction, I confess
She'll never take up the space that you left
Just a distraction, I confess
Someone to hold who can help me forget, yeah

She may have my attention
But we got no connection
Just need to take my mind
Off you, yeah

She may have my attention

But we got no connection
Just need to take my mind
Off you
