Blessed Be

Jason Gray

Losers All the lovely losers Never thought you'd hear your name Outside Always on the outside Empty at the wishing well But time will tell Blessed Be The ones who know that they are weak They shall see The kingdom come to the broken ones Blessed be Thirsty Like you're drinking from a salt sea But one day you'll be satisfied Hungry For the taste of mercy Aching just to have your fill One day you will Blessed Be The ones who know that they are weak They shall see The kingdom come to the broken ones Not for the strong, beautiful the brave Not for the ones who think they've got it made It's for the poor, broken and meek It's for the ones who look a lot like you and me Blessed Be The ones who know that they are weak They shall see The kingdom come to the broken ones Blessed Be The ones who know that they are weak They shall see The kingdom come to the broken ones Blessed Be Losers All the lovely losers