

Christmas Really Sucks

Jay Brannan

It's cold, but light outside another sleepless night and Santa never made it it's just another day at least it feels that way it's Christmas, and I hate it the streets are empty and so am I to "Merry Christmas" I reply

don't put your trust
in happily ever after fall if you must
for simple things like laughter
you said you'd always be here but then you had to go
well, Christmas really sucks this year
thought you should know

I'm craving pancakes so much my stomach aches but there is nothing open you're on the telephone sounds like you're not alone it's been so long since we've spoken has your day been merry? cuz mine's been blue hey, can I stay in love with you?
