Our Past Is In My Way

Jean Shepard

Our past is always present where my future is concerned $\mbox{\footnotemath{\mbox{And}}}$ I'd found the doors all locked to me, no matter where I tur n

I can't even build new mem'ries when your mem'ry's here to stay And I cannot face the future for our past is in my way

I can't go out with someone else and do the things we'd do And I can't even look ahead while looking back at you I'm torn between tomorrow and the scars of yesterday And I cannot face the future for our past is in my way

I was so much stronger yesterday when you walked by my side But I'm weaker for you left me here and my heart within me dies What I was speak so much louder than what I am today And I cannot face the future for our past is in my way