

The Calling

Jennifer Paige

There's nothing to say
There's nowhere to go now
I guess everything changes
Safe in the dark
Heart in a black out
But nothing erases

What's locked deep inside
And with the passing of time
I try to move on, you won't let me go

I hear you calling
Words I long to hear
So temporary
Take me away from the ordinary
I feel you haunting
Feel you in the air
Why do we dare
When there's just so many ways to say farewell

Another day
I go through the motions
Everything's distant
Memories fade
But this strange devotion
Breaks my resistance

So much has been broken
And words left unspoken
Lost in the silence
Speak to my soul

I hear you calling
Words I long to hear
So temporary
Take me away from the ordinary
I feel you haunting
Feel you in the air
Why do we dare
When there's just so many ways to say farewell

I hear you calling
Words I long to hear
So temporary
Take me away from the ordinary
I feel you haunting
Feel you in the air
Why do we dare
When there's just so many ways to say farewell
