Darker Days

Joel Faviere

(Yeah, Favi, yeah)

I got the weight of the world
That God created on my shoulders
Heart of gold, but boulder
Broke a couple of bones, you know
'Cause, 'cause
When I walk I talk about the things I did
Part of everything
When I bought the chalk, I talked the shit
When I slipped a hit, I missed it
Kissed it, till I got dismissed
Fifty dollars for Christmas
I know where that shit went, psychoactive, ballistic
Codependency could never get me anything
Except for negativity, away from everything I need

All those darker days
Are so, so far away from me
So, so far away from me
So, so far away from me
All those darker days
Are so, so far away from me
So, so far away from me
So, so far away from me

It sucked to say that everything's a blur
Lies, deceit, everywhere I turn
Better be taking notes from what you learn
Silver lining, better be thankful for the burn
Shitty timing, better be thankful for the words
Scars can cover up the worst
Scars and scars, they're just a way to get away
Followers can pull the curtain down
And find a better way
To make your face drop, jaw stop
Life stop, heartbeat drop

All those darker days
Are so, so far away from me
So, so far away from me
So, so far away from me
All those darker days
Are so, so far away from me
So, so far away from me
So, so far away from me

(Check it, Favi, 2011, expression, don't forget it)
