A country dance was being held in a garden. I felt a bump and h eard an "Oh, beg you pardon."

Suddenly I saw polka dots and moonbeams all around a pugnosed dream.

The music started and was I the perplexed one.

I held my breath and said "May I have the next one?"

In my frightened arms, polka dots and moonbeams sparkled on a p ug-nosed dream.

There were questions in the eyes of other dancers as we floated over the floor.

There were questions but my heart knew all the answers and perh aps a few things more.

Now in a cottage made of lilacs and laughter, I know the meanin q of the words "ever after."

And I'll always see polka dots and moonbeams when I kiss my pugnosed dream.

There were questions in the eyes of other dancers as we floated over the floor.

There were questions but my heart knew all the answers and perh aps a few things more.

Now in a cottage made of lilacs and laughter, I know the meanin g of the words "ever after."

And I'll always see polka dots and moonbeams when I kiss my pugnosed dream, when I kiss my pug-nosed dream.