Deep within my heart lies a melody, a song of old San Antone, where in dreams I live with a memory beneath the stars all alon e.

It was there I found beside the Alamo, enchantment strange as the blue up above.

A moonlit pass that only she would know still hears my broken s ong of love.

Moon in all your splendor, hear only my heart. Call back my Ros e, Rose of San Antone.

Lips so sweet and tender like petals falling apart, speak once again of my love, my own.

Broken song, empty words I know still live in my heart all alon e.

For the moonlit pass by the Alamo and Rose, my Rose of San Anto ne.

Moon in all your splendor, hear only my heart. Call back my Ros e, Rose of San Antone.

Lips so sweet and tender like petals falling apart, speak once again of my love, my own.

Broken song, empty words I know still live in my heart all alon e.

For the moonlit pass by the Alamo and Rose, my Rose of San Anto $\ensuremath{\text{ne}}.$
