

I Can Hear Her Fighting With Herself

Jonathan Richman

I can hear her fighting with herself
I can hear the words she doesn't tell
Well, right left right, I can almost hear the fight Well blink blink blink I can almost hear her thinking Can almost hear her fighting can almost hear her fighting with herself

It's like she wants to scream but something is paralyzing it's like she wants to talk but then she turns to walk

I can almost hear the words she doesn't say she starts to talk but then she turns away Well boom boom boom, there's tension in the room
Can almost hear her thinking
Can almost hear her fighting with herself

It's like she wants to scream
but something's paralyzing
it's like she wants to stay but then she turns away

On one shoulder is the angel on the other is the devil it's like they're both screaming at her at some high volume level

It's like she wants to scream
but something's paralyzing
it's like she wants to stay
but she turns away and I can hear her fighting

can almost hear her fighting with herself
