

All That I've Become

Jonny Craig

Used to see me on my worst days
No longer stuck inside my old ways
Used to see me as your worst case
No longer searching for my own fate
Open up your mind
Take a look inside
Show me what's behind
Your walls, your walls

And I'd sell my skin
To show you without you they're idiots
No, when, no
I'd sell my sins
Protecting you from all that I've done
Protecting you from all that I was
All that I've become

It's like my life is stuck on replay
You only see me in my worst place
If only we could find the right place
I know you more than just a good lay
Open up your mind
Take a look inside
Show me what's behind
Your lies, your lies

And I'd sell my skin
To show you without you they're idiots
No, when, no
I'd sell my sins
Protecting you from all that I've done
Protecting you from all that I was
All that I've become

All that I was...

And I'd sell my skin
To show you without you they're idiots
No, when, no
I'd sell my sins
Protecting you from all that I've done
Protecting you from all that I was
All that I've become...

And you'd sell your sins
Protecting me from all that you've done
Every fucking fight that you've won
All that we've become
All that we've become
All that we've become
All that we've become
It's all that I've become
