

Best Day Ever

KJ-52

This is the best day ever
You are the best thing ever
This is the best day ever
You are the best thing ever

I'm awake got the coffee poured
But I'm running late going out the door
But I'm on my way heading out on tour
When the coffee fell straight on the floor
You ever felt this way before
When your face is sore and your brain is raw
And all you want to do is complain some more
Cause every highway lane feels like a war
It's a struggle to praise the Lord
But you on a race and your blazing forward
Your faith needs to grow some more
So when the road gets hard just remain
Assured that...

It's all because of you you you you you
It's all because of you

If I could write an essay on the best day
Had to be the one where I get changed
Had to be the one where I get saved
From all the ways that I was and I been made
Brand new and love made a quick change
Had me heading down a road and I switched lanes
Now everywhere I go now it's so plain
Took everything that I done and it's thrown 'way
Turned all around like a segway
Seen thru it an like an x-rap
Ever since I found just the best way
Every single day just the best day

This is the best day ever
You are the best thing ever
This is the best day ever
You are the best thing ever

It's all because of you you you you you
It's all because of you

It's like the feeling that you get on your first date
Or just a hug when your going thru your worst day
It's like you're laughing with your friends till you're side ache
Layin on your bed while your both stayin up late
It's what you said to your crush back in first grade
Or finding love when you need it in the worst way...
