

Love Will Set You Free

Kodaline

I'm sure you're probably busy getting on with your new life
So far away from
So far away from

When everything we used to say was wrong is now alright
Where has the time gone
Where has the time gone

If you're ever feeling lonely
If you're ever feeling down
You should know you're not the only one 'cause I feel it with you now
When the world is on your shoulders and you're falling to your knees
Oh please
You know love will set you free

I took a long and lonely walk up to an empty house
That's where I've come from Where have you come from

The more I live, the more I know, I've got to live without
This ain't no sad song
Life has to go on

If you're ever feeling lonely
If you're ever feeling down
You should know you're not the only one 'cause I feel it with you now
When the world is on your shoulders and you're falling to your knees
Oh please
You know love will set you free

You know love will set you free
You know love will set you free
You know love will set you free
You know love will set you free
You know love will set you free
You know love will set you free

Love will set you free
Ooh
Love will set you free

If you're ever feeling lonely
If you're ever feeling down
You should know you're not the only one 'cause I feel it with you now
When the world is on your shoulders and you're falling to your knees
Oh please
You know love will set you free
Love will set you free
