Surrender The Throne

Can you hear the sirens? We're coming for your crown There's fire on the horizon Your walls are crashing down We came to break the silence We're knocking at your door Cause for every broken promise Is a desperate cry for war

Surrender the throne Surrender the throne

Are you in the shadows? Denial's chasing you The truth is hard to swallow But only for the fools So look inside the mirror And tell me what you see A picture perfect hero But you're no god to me
