

Wait

Laura Marie

I'm this way because I'm cold, cold enough to know knowing does no good.
I'm this way because I'm wrong, wrong to let it end, end the way it should.
If you're laying down your arms, lie down and be done because lying is what we'll do.

Just to wait for you takes all my strength and I won't.
Because, nobody breaks the way I do and I don't think I want me to

I'm this way when I wake up, up before the dawn. It's dawning on me now.
I'm this way because you're not.
Not because I care. Caring is not allowed If you're saying you can't take the weight of this then, maybe, wait until I'm gone

It's your fault I can't stay... stay asleep inside...
Whose side did you take...taking all my time... it's time to be awake making up my mind

Just to wait for you takes all my strength and I won't
Because, nobody breaks the way I do
I'm this way and you won't budge
I'll be here, you'll be fine
