

Edge of Your Sword

Leah

Every heartbeat is holding on
And every breath I breathe won't let it go

You looked at me and that was all
Below the surface, you can't see me fall
But you don't see me...

And it feels like a knife in the back of the door
You opened and closed it forevermore
And it feels like tonight is the edge of your sword
All the pages of this book are torn

The scroll is open, but the story's over
The seal is broken
I've lost my composure

You said to me we would be for forever
And now I've fallen deeper than ever
But you don't see me...

And it feels like a knife in the back of the door
You opened and closed it forevermore
And it feels like tonight is the edge of your sword
All the pages of this book are torn